Composting-a Win –Win Activity

Are you interested in learning about a way to effectively deal with all of those falling leaves along with much of your garden waste and kitchen scraps and at the same time get free all natural- soil conditioner? Do we have a deal for you!

The Hancock County Solid Waste Management District in conjunction with Purdue Extension will offer a FREE Composting class on the evening of Thursday, October 29th.

While the program is free to the public, those who would like to attend are asked to call and RSVP by 4pm, Tuesday, Oct. 27 at 317-462-1113 to allow for adequate facilities and materials to be prepared.

The class will be held from 6pm to 8:00pm (it may go a little over), and will include hands on composting and a question and answer session for successful composting at home.

This program will be held in the Purdue Extension Office located at 802 N. Apple Street, Greenfield-just north of the County fairgrounds.

We encourage you to take this opportunity to learn how to effectively reduce yard waste, save space in our landfills, and save money, while enriching your soil at home, and increasing garden productivity!

Composting is a win-win-win activity!
